PENROSE DENIES HE TOLD STORY OF CONSPIRACY

HUSBAND'S VICTORY MADE EVELYN THAW HAPPY ON HER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The decision of the commission in lunacy that Harry K. Thaw was sane, which is generally regarded as a long step toward his ultimate freedom, was announced on the second anniversary of his marriage to Evelyn Nesbit.

Evelyn in Her New Spring Gown.

She wore a Spring dress of light tan, with a girlish yoke of gold and white. Her skirt was cut to her shoe tops. Her bonnet was one of round black straw. She appeared thoroughly girlish and as far removed from the grim tragedy in which she is enmeshed as a girl in a boarding school, home for her Easter holidays.

JEROME MAY TRY TO ENJOIN THAW JUDGE

NEW YORK, April 5.—District Attorney Jerome, who failed signally in his effort to send Harry K. Thaw to a madhouse, is now preparing to legally enjoin the further continuance of his own trial—an unprecedented act in criminal procedure in this city.

Fearing the jury will free Thaw when the case reaches them, the District Attorney is determined to use every legal artifice to keep Thaw out of their hands. He has two avenues of action. One is to apply for a writ of mandamus ordering Justice Fitzgerald to show him to inspect the minutes of the lunacy commission's secret examination of Thaw, which, if granted, would halt the trial again.

The other possibility is for him to apply to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition to prevent Justice Fitzgerald from confirming the report of the commission, which he will undoubtedly do on Monday unless he is stopped by a higher court.

The utmost Jerome can secure through any outside proceedings he can institute, it was pointed out to-day, would be to have another lunacy commission appointed. In view of the unanimous finding in favor of Thaw by the last commission, it is regarded as not likely the judge will care for further "information" from another commission.

Jerome and his assistant, Garvin, hurriedly left the Criminal Court Building before noon to-day, hearing with them big bundles of legal documents. They would not say whether they were on their way to the Appellate Court. As the appellate division doesn't convene until the afternoon, it was considered probable that they were bound for a secret conference as to the advisability of appealing from the decision of the lunacy commission.

Thaw's Celebrate Victory.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was an early caller at the Tombs to-day.

She ordered her chauffeur to call for her at 11:45, which is the latest hour at which visitors are permitted to remain in the prison in the forenoon. Mrs. Thaw looked bright and cheerful.

In celebration of the second wedding anniversary of Harry Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit, and of the victorious outcome of the proceedings before the lunacy commission, the Thaw family had a jollification at the Hotel Lorraine last night.

A few friends were bidden. As late as 10 o'clock the Thaw chauffeur was dispatched with a car to the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge to meet a friend of the family and take him to the Lorraine to share in the jubilation.

"I Shall Be Free," Thaw.

Harry Thaw himself is jubilant over the action of the Sanity Commission. "I'll soon be free now," he declared to-day.

There's lawyers say they do not fear any move that Jerome may make. They say that they expect the case to go on Monday when Mr. Delmas will be ready to make his appeal to the jury. This is what Lawyer Hartridge had to say regarding Jerome's contemplated act:

"There is no writ that he can ask for. It's absurd to talk about getting out a writ of prohibition against the conscience of the court, or to mandamus that conscience. This inquiry was for the purpose of informing the Court's conscience. Having been informed, I speak only for myself when I say that the Judge's conscience has worked in accordance with the information supplied by the commission, and that's the end of it."

PENNSYLVANIA SENATOR DECLARES HE NEVER SAID ANYTHING THAT WOULD WARRANT WHITE HOUSE ASSERTION—LOEB DECLARES PRESIDENT DIDN'T MENTION PENROSE ANYWAY.

PHILADELHIA, April 5.—United States Senator Boise Penrose, who was reported as the person alluded to in President Roosevelt's statement that a man identified with the conspirators had inadvertently revealed a gigantic plot of Harriman and Rockefeller interests to defeat the Roosevelt program and balk the President's plans, to-day declared he had never said anything that would warrant such an assertion.

The White House statement was to the effect that $5,000,000 had been raised as a corruption fund to fight the President, and that the revelation of the conspiracy had been made at a dinner, the date and place of which were not given.

"I have just returned from a cruising trip in the West Indies with Secretary Metcalf and Senator Flynn of California, and I never attended any such dinner," declared Penrose.

His denial added to the others already made increases the mystery that shrouds the accusation.

"It is absolutely an untruth," said Senator Penrose. "I have never said any such thing. It is all untrue. I have always been a supporter of and believer in President Roosevelt's administration, and all his policies."

"Had you ever heard of a $5,000,000 fund to prevent Roosevelt naming his successor?"

"No, absolutely not."

NEVER HEARD OF CONSPIRACY.

"Did you ever hear of the combination of industrial magnates, the alliance termed the Rich Men's Conspiracy?"

"No. I have never heard of any such combination and have no knowledge of that."

"Did you attend a dinner of such nature as was mentioned to-day in the Washington dispatches?"

"No. I never attended a dinner where such a subject was mentioned. I could not have been, anyhow, for I just came back from a West Indian cruise with Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and Senator Flynn of California. I arrived in Philadelphia Tuesday night, after a month's trip. During that time I did not follow the newspapers or keep in touch with affairs in the United States."

"What do you think the Pennsylvania delegation at the convention will support?"

"I do not know," replied the Senator. "I have not any idea now. It is too early to have any matters have come to a point when any sentiment has crystallized upon any one man.

"I have always been a supporter and believer in Roosevelt. I have not the slightest idea where that report could have come from or what the object was or who inspired it."

LOEB ADDS TO DENIALS.

At the White House to-day Secretary Loeb issued a general denial that Penrose had ever been mentioned as the man who divulged the secret of the conspiracies.

"Senator Penrose's denial that he was the man that gave the first information of the conspiracy to defeat the President's policies is of no interest to us," said the secretary. "Senator Penrose's name was not mentioned in giving out the statement yesterday. How his name came to be connected with the publications in this morning's papers I do not know."

"Will you say that Penrose was not the Senator in question?" was asked.

"I will not say that he was or was not," was the reply. "I can only add that his name was not mentioned either by me or by anyone else in the White House as being connected with the matter."

GIRL OF 15 IS HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Her love for an actor, it is believed by the police who arrested her, caused Christina Zeller to steal diamonds, according to the charge against her, valued at $1025.

The girl is fifteen years old. The victim of the burglary is V. H. Grover, a theatrical agent of No. 148 Court street. The girl is in the custody of the police of the Joy Street Station. She has refused to confess.

Miss Zeller was arraigned to-day in the juvenile session of the Municipal Court. She said that the burglary was committed by a girl companion. She accounted for her presence in the office by the statement that she had been employed to clean the office.

Say Door Was Pried.

The girl was arrested by Special Officer Harry Burns. He told the court that she tried open the office door with a screw driver on Monday afternoon. She then searched the office, the officer said, until she located the bag containing the jewels in the pocket of a coat. The coat was in a closet.

Grover remembered the Zeller girl, he told the police. He told them that she and other girls had often visited his office. He even said that she had often expressed her admiration of the jewels.

Refuses to Confess.

The police tried to get the girl to confess. She refused. She said that Emily Dillon, fifteen years of age, of No. 96 East Newton street, committed the crime. The Dillon girl was arrested. She accused the other girl. She gave details of the other girl's story. The Dillon girl was sent to St. Joseph's Home. The police do not think that she had anything to do with the burglary.

The police say that the Zeller girl is one of many stage-struck girls whom they have been called upon to deal with in a mild way. The Zeller girl's case was continued a week.

GIRL HURT IN LEAP FROM CAR

Frightened by the sudden explosion of a controller in an outward-bound Boston Elevated car in Quincy square, Cambridge, Miss Helen Langdon, twenty-three years, of No. 128 Hemenway street, prominent in Back Bay society circles, jumped from the rear end of the car this noon and suffered severe injuries.

In the Cambridge Relief Hospital it was discovered that she had sustained a sprained ankle and contusions of the body.

Other passengers were thrown into a panic when the report of the explosion shook the car. Volumes of smoke blew into their faces and only served to blind them as they struggled to reach the exits.

HELPED THE JANITOR.

J. R. Bastelle, janitor of the Kelly block, Randall, has taken Father Johny Anderson for years. It has built him on and helped him ver much to gain health and strength.—Adv.

SPARE TRACTION MEN FROM TAX

The urgent necessity for a taxation commission to go deeply into the matter of taxes in Massachusetts, as prayed for to the Governor and Legislature by T. Jefferson Coolidge, Loclus Tyzzie and 108 other leading financial lights, was borne in upon all the corporation men in the Legislature to-day when the Committee on Taxation reported favorably a bill providing that underground conduits, wires and pipes laid in public streets by any corporation, except a street railway company, shall be assessable in the cities and towns in which they are laid.

Representatives Davenport of Malden, Hirsh of Milford and Fogg of Newburyport dissent from the views of the majority as set forth in the bill.

HOLD DOCTOR FOR MAINE GIRL'S DEATH

PORTLAND, Me., April 5.—After a four hours' hearing in the Municipal Court to-day, Dr. Charles O. Files, charged with causing the death of Adaline Louise Holt, was bound over to the May term of the Superior Court in $5,000 bail. Herbert A. Skeels, who was the sweetheart of the dead girl, was held in $2,000 bail. Dr. Files was represented by ex-Judge Enoch T. Foster and General Charles P. Mattocks, two of the most noted lawyers in Maine.

METHODIST BISHOP.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Word has been received that Bishop S. Fitzgerald of the Methodist Episcopal Church has died while on a visit to Chinese missions in Hong Kong. He lived in St. Louis.

CLERK WHO SOLD HARRIMAN LETTER GIVES $1000 BAIL

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Bail at $1,000 was fixed to-day in the case of Frank W. Hill, who was arrested last night charged with making public the letter written by Edward H. Harriman to Sidney Webster in which Harriman asserted that President Roosevelt had asked him to raise funds for the Republican party in the campaign of 1904.

TAKES POISON; SAYS ROSARY AS LIFE EBBS

Writes Farewell Note to Friends as Spirit Takes Its Flight.

"GOODBY, EVERYBODY"

BROCKTON, April 5.—While all others in the boarding house at No. 57 Pleasant street were sleeping last night, with no one to interrupt or dissuade him from his purpose, Philip Lamere, aged thirty-two, emptied as a stereotyper on the Daily Times, drank a dose of carbolic acid, threw the bottle out of the window and then made preparations to die.

His hands trembling, his head aflame with the fire of the poison, yet conscious of what he was doing, Lamere secured pencil and paper and wrote a pitiful farewell.

Notify the Times, also R. J. Hastie, of No. 18 Summit street, Roxbury. Goodby, everybody.

Then he took his rosary and lay in bed, counting the beads in prayer as his spirit took flight.

ACCUSED OF TAKING FISH FROM NETS

Charged with the unusual offence of having stolen fish on the high seas, Edward Stanley and Roland Brewer, fishermen of Gloucester, were held in bonds of $300 by United States Commissioner Hayes to-day to answer for arraignment. They were accused by Edward M. Proctor of having stolen fish from his nets off Plymouth. The offence was alleged to have been committed on the high seas and so will be tried in the United States Courts.

CZAR FEARS UPRISING, TROOPS NOW FILL CAPITAL

Cossacks and Dragoons Patrol Streets of St. Petersburg to Guard Against Riot.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—Troops today completely dominate this city in preparation for any developments in the session of the Duma which may arouse the populace. The government does not propose to be caught unprepared if a popular outbreak should occur.

Following yesterday's bolt from the Duma by reactionary deputies and their declaration that the reading by Deputy Alexinsky of a newspaper article accusing the Russian government of bad faith in dissolving the first parliament was treasonable, it was feared there might be further disturbances to-day in the Duma chamber. The budget debate offers constant opportunity for violent disputes.

Cossacks and dragoons are stationed in the factory districts, and all the home guards in the city and three regiments of infantry are being held in readiness in event of any demonstration.

U. S. LAW BARS MOTHER WHO WAS BORN HERE

Supposing that, because she was born in this country and therefore had a right to re-enter it at any time with her children, Mrs. George Murray, of Scotland, formerly of Concord, N. H., who arrived here to-day on the Allan liner Pretorian, from Glasgow, with her four young children, was dismayed to find that her marriage to an alien and her following absence from the country for fifteen years had invalidated her birthright. Her youngest child is afflicted with infantile paralysis. This, with the fact that the father has not arrived here yet from South Africa to receive his family, may result in the mother and children being sent back.

Husband On Way Here.

Mrs. Murray was formerly Miss Elizabeth Clark of Concord, N. H. Fifteen years ago she married George Murray, who took her to his own home in Scotland. Four years ago Murray went to South Africa. He prospered for a while, but hard times there the past year made him decide to try this country. He is now on his way here.

Meanwhile Mrs. Murray, with her four children, started for this country, intending to go to the home of her mother, who is now living at No. 11 Philip street, Quincy. There Mrs. Murray planned to await her husband.

She supposed that she would be allowed to enter the country as she was born here, even though she might not have any one here to receive her immediately or enough funds to satisfy the inspectors in the case of foreign-born immigrants.

Case a Pitiful One.

The discovery of her youngest child's illness, the delay in the husband's arrival from South Africa and the detention of the family for the present make the case a pitiful one. By strictest interpretation of the law, the family could be sent back to Scotland on the next boat, but an effort is being made to fix matters so the family can wait till the father arrives.

GIRL BOARDING CAR FALLS INTO MANHOLE

Slipping on a defective manhole cover, Miss Clara Perry, daughter of Ralph J. Perry of Pearl street, Cambridgeport, was plunged half way into the manhole this afternoon while she was attempting to board a car at the Brookline street transfer station. Her left side was bruised and her body scratched and bruised. She was taken home.

INDEPENDENT JURY PROBE OF FENWAY

The investigation which the present Suffolk Grand Jury decided to make into the Fenway contracts held by Harry P. Nawn, an investigation wholly independent of the one being conducted by District Attorney John B. Moran, continued to-day with the appearance of eight prominent men as witnesses in the Grand Jury room.

These witnesses are:

Daniel J. Hayes of the sewer department.

George Phillips, formerly superintendent of the sewer department.

City Engineer Derr.

Former Superintendent of Streets James Donovan.

Superintendent of Sewers John Leahy.

Former United States District Attorney Asa P. French, who originally investigated the Fenway case for Acting Mayor Whelton.

City Auditor Mitchell.

Expert Auditor Gideon Mansfield.

Witnesses Go in Together.

These appeared at the courthouse at 11 o'clock, and all went into the Grand Jury room together. The Grand Jury sent into the office of the District Attorney for several basketsful of papers, evidence, records and other matter dealing with the investigation which District Attorney Moran has been and is still conducting into the same portion of the Fenway contracts. These voluminous papers were brought into the jury room.

The witnesses to-day responded to summonses secured by Foreman Martin P. F. Curley of the present grand jury. Mr. Curley lives in Ward 21, where Nawn has been recognized as a political leader. Mr. Curley, in his capacity as jury foreman, appeared before Judge Brown of the Superior Court and asked for the summonses, which were granted.

Investigation a Surprise.

This independent investigation by the grand jury comes as a surprise. District Attorney Moran has already investigated the Fenway contracts held by John B. Graham, the Metropolitan Construction Company and Simon J. Donovan.

The district attorney has not presented this matter to the Suffolk Grand Jury in the Fenway contracts, saying he was still seeking the necessary evidence, that one hundred witnesses would have to be secured and the Nawn papers examined.

SEEK MEN WHO HELD UP SHOE STORE MAN

Captain John McBride of Station 7, Cambridge, is trying to trace two masked men who entered the shoe store of Daniel H. Mulligan at No. 58 Sixth street, Cambridge, held Mulligan terrified at the point of revolver and robbed him of $214 and several banknotes. The holdup occurred on the night of March 25.

RENT UNPAID, BABY SEIZED BY LANDLORD

Mother Says, "I Couldn't Get My Child When I Asked for It."

DAY SAVED BY GIRL'S WIT

Alleging that their baby was being held for rent, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Downing appealed to acting Captain Ritter of the Dedham street station to-day to help them get the infant from the house at No. 40 Union Park street. By the time that an officer arrived at the house the child had been secretly taken away by a mysterious lodger, and was recovered after four hours' search at No. 285 Shawmut avenue.

Mrs. Downing told Captain Ritter that on three different visits she had made to the house she had been refused admittance and that her pleas to get her baby the baby were unavailing. The young mother was almost hysterical when she and her husband reached the station.

Say Rent Was Unpaid.

According to the story of the husband and wife they had not paid their rent for three weeks to Mrs. McQuade, who runs the lodging house at No. 40 Union Park street, because a lawyer told them not to do so. Their clothing had been damaged by a leak and they were making a move to redress. The three weeks was up to-day.

Leaving baby Irene, who is four weeks old to-day, in the care of Miss Florence Rose, father and mother started out in search of other rooms. They found them at No. 288 Shawmut avenue. While the father remained at the new lodgings the mother went back for the baby.

She was refused admittance, she declares, by Mrs. McQuade. To all her appeals for the baby the landlady was obdurate unless the rent was forthcoming. Then Mrs. Downing appealed and knew she was refused. Then her husband, summoned from Shawmut avenue, tried what he could do and failed. Then they sought the police.

Patrolman McGee was sent with them to the house. He got in and found Mrs. McQuade was not there, and that the baby had disappeared. Mrs. Downing was on the verge of hysterics, when one of the lodgers suggested that Miss Rose might have taken the infant to the Shawmut avenue house.

Found at Shawmut Avenue.

Mother, father and policeman sought Shawmut avenue in a hurry. There they found Miss Rose and baby Irene. The baby was crying lustily for something to eat. She got it immediately.

"I tried to get the baby out," said Miss Rose to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, "but Mrs. McQuade wouldn't let me. I watched my chance and when she went downstairs, I quietly sought the back way. Once through the door I had to climb a fence with the baby in my arms, get into an alleyway and came here. I was more than glad when I saw Mrs. Downing coming to take the child as I did not know what might happen."

Mr. and Mrs. Downing and small Irene are now comfortably housed in their new lodgings. They are not yet sure what will be the outcome of their flight from their former landlady, but having had legal advice they are calmly awaiting developments.

SNAGS FOR MAYOR'S PUBLICITY MEASURE

According to State House reports to-day Mayor Fitzgerald's "Publicity" bill is not to go easily through the Legislature in its present unlimited form. In the Senate to-day it was proposed to amend the bill so that not more than $50,000 can be appropriated, that the purpose of each appropriation must be stated, and that the act must be accepted by a two-thirds vote of the Boston City Councils.

VETERAN STABS FIVE COMRADES

DAYTON, O., April 5.—Five veterans of the Civil War were stabbed last night while asleep in their cots at the Soldiers' Home. Two may die.

William H. Huffman of Barracks No. 33 wielded the knife. His mind has been weakened by excessive drinking and he imagined his comrades plotted to kill him. The cries of the men awakened from slumber by knife thrusts aroused the inmates and attracted the guards. Huffman was overpowered after a terrific struggle.

David Calle and Joseph Conners are in a critical condition at the home hospital. John Dougherty, Howard Smith and David Gavin will recover.

FREE N. Y. C. ON CRUELTY CASE

The New York Central Railroad Company was declared not guilty in the Superior Criminal Court to-day of cruelty to animals in connection with a shipment of cattle from West Albany to Brighton last January. Thirty-seven cattle died en route, according to the indictment.

Judge Brown took the case from the jury and ordered a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the evidence did not sustain the indictment.

The road had been indicted in five counts in which two allegations of cruelty were made.

CROCKER WILL PETITION MUST BE AMENDED

Court Holds That Allegations Are Insufficient to Grant Review of Decree.

SHOULD BE MADE BEFORE

The petition of Annie J. Crocker, widow of Uriel H. Crocker, for a review of the case in which the Crocker will was set aside, must be amended, according to a ruling by Judge Lothrop in the Supreme Court to-day. The amendment must make further allegations which will meet with the answer of the respondents, the Crocker sons, which is to be filed by the defendants.

Annie J. Crocker was formerly Uriel H. Crocker's secretary. He left her his $700,000 estate. After long and bitter litigation, during which the will was set aside, an Agreement was attained whereby the widow received a widow's third and the three sons, who had contested their father's will on the ground of unsound mind and undue influence, received the rest.

Juror Was Bribed.

Later Matthew J. Killion, who had been one of the jurors in the case, was convicted of receiving a bribe to render a verdict disallowing the will. It was upon this the counsel for the petition had information of importance concerning these bribery proceedings.

Former Attorney-General Herbert Parker came before the court on behalf of Mrs. Crocker in order to file her petition for a bill of review of the original case. Attorney Robert M. Morse and W. D. Turner appeared for the respondents.

Attorney Parker said in part:

"A juror sworn to do his duty participated in a verdict which was corrupted and nullified by a bribe. It has been conclusively proven that this juror was guilty, and he is now serving his sentence. I move that this corrupted verdict be stricken from the records."

Amend Petition.

The court ruled that the petition must be amended, saying:

"The court holds this is purely a question of property rights. The question before the court to-day is whether the court shall grant leave to you to file a petition asking the court to enter upon litigation and review a decree.

"If this bill of review had been filed immediately after the decree there would have been no difficulty in securing a retrial. How is this court in a condition to entertain a review when the entire estate has been wound up? That is an obstacle that makes an opening of the case extraordinary."

THROAT TABLETS COST HER LIFE

Mrs. Alfred F. Hurvitz, who suffered an agonizing death after treatment by doctor whom family is now unable to locate.

TABLETS KILL WOMAN; NOW HUNT DOCTOR

Young Wife Burns Alive After Treatment for Throat Trouble.

DIES IN GREAT AGONY

Declaring that he would not rest until justice was done, Alfred F. Hurvitz to-day told of the suffering his young wife endured, caused by taking apparently poisonous tablets for a throat trouble which literally burned her to death.

Although an investigation of the case is to be made by the authorities it was said to-day that Medical Examiner Mcdonald had not been notified yet of the facts by the physicians who were called in in a vain effort to save the woman's life.

The doctor who is said to be responsible for prescribing the death tablets is missing from his office. This is the story of the husband of the dead woman:

"My wife was poisoned, literally burned up, and I will not rest until that doctor responsible is brought to justice. My poor wife was in excellent health and spirits an hour before she took those tablets, and her family, mother, sisters and myself saw her in her terrible agonies writhing up and she died and calling for water the whole time.

Mrs. Hurvitz took the tablets first, according to direction, and after a short time she was seized with violent cramps and all the efforts of her husband and mother to relieve her were unavailing. The doctor was summoned by telephone. He did not respond but sent an assistant, who examined the woman and then hastily left the house without treating her at all.

Noticing this indifference on the part of these doctors Mr. Hurvitz called for Dr. John J. Irving of Sharon avenue, who had been the family physician on former occasions, and he responded immediately and found the woman writhing in agony. As he saw that the three was no chance for saving her he contented that two other physicians be called in, and Dr. W. H. Goodall and Dr. Charles O. Keple, in addition to a trained nurse, were summoned. After working over her for five hours Mrs. Hurvitz died. Dr. Irving took charge of the tablets and medicine and is preparing to analyze them.

MOB DEPOSED RAILROAD BOSS IN LEGISLATURE

New Hampshire Solons Hiss and Pelt Books at King of "Throne Room."

Special to the Boston American.

CONCORD, N. H., April 5.—The most exciting scene which has occurred in the State Legislature of this State in years was the scolding upon the floor of the House of Representatives of "Jim" French, who for twelve years has been the boss of the Legislature.

Members threw books at him. He was hissed and cat-called. Members from all parts of the room called upon him to take his seat and to stay there. For several minutes the business of the house was entirely suspended.

French's reception upon the floor of the House immediately followed an exciting scene in the Committee of Appropriations, of which he is chairman.

Forced Him to Attend.

The fight, which was begun Tuesday evening in the Appropriations Committee, of which French is chairman, was continued in the committee yesterday. A meeting had been called for 11 o'clock by French himself. When that hour arrived he did not appear. After waiting half an hour the committee organized by electing former Senator Elmer S. Tilton of Laconia temporary chairman, but found it impossible to proceed, as all records and documents of the committee were in the chairman's hands.

French has stated that he would not attend the meeting. Upon motion of Representative Murray of Canaan, a committee consisting of Murray, Ferguson of Exeter and Langford of Littleton was sent to the "throne room" to demand the attendance of French or the delivery of the committee's papers. They found French in a pugnacious mood, but after about ten minutes they emerged with both the chairman and the documents while he was holding back.

The committee meeting which followed was an exciting one. French refused to put motions, but members arose and, putting the motions, carried them over his head. Later, in the House, the bill appropriating $50,000 for State armories at Concord and Nashua, one of the bills which French had opposed in the committee, was passed by a vote of 155 to 129, but as the time for messaging bills from the House to the Senate had expired, this vote threatened to come to naught. The Senate was, however, equal to the occasion, and, agreeably to the rules, tacked this and several other bills which French had previously killed by filibustering to the "omnibus bill."

Has Lost His Grip.

The House refused to concur with some other sections of the bill, and a committee on conference, consisting of Representatives Bass of Peterboro, Fischer of Pittsfield and Howard of Nashua, together with Senators Bothwell and Roby, was appointed, and it is expected that the tangle will be fixed up, and the whole thing go through.

During the afternoon, while French was filibustering against the bill, Representative William F. Whitcher of Haverhill refused to vote, and a motion was put through compelling him to respond to the call of his name. French repeatedly called for the yeas and nays on the most trivial questions, and was as often bombarded with hisses and cat-calls from the House. The general impression here to-day on all sides is that he has lost his grip on the House completely.

U. S. SLEUTHS FIND WOMAN IN 4-YEAR CHASE

Mrs. Phoebe Church Accused of Swindling Scores of Poultry Fanciers.

After searching for her for four years and tracing her through seven cities the postal authorities have succeeded in finding and arresting Mrs. Phoebe Lucinda Church, twenty-four years old, whom they charge with having swindled scores of poultry fanciers throughout New England.

The young woman was lodged in the Charles street jail to-day after Postal Inspector Pendleton had completed his case against her. She will be sent to Providence for arraignment.

The postal authorities charge that she advertised in poultry journals that she was prepared to sell pullets, chicken feed, wire for chicken coops and other goods used in the poultry industry. They charge that although she received several hundreds of dollars she never sent back any goods.

CONCILIATION TRIUMPHS IN RAILROAD PACT

CHICAGO, April 5.—By the settlement of the railroad strike dispute yesterday President Roosevelt's peace envoys achieved a signal victory for the principle of conciliation in labor controversies. All danger of a tie-up of the West is averted through an agreement effected late in the afternoon between the railroad managers and their train service employes.

The pact was arranged by Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Commissioner Neill of the Government Department of Labor. It will be ratified formally to-day.

Under the terms of settlement the trainmen will secure an advance in wages of about 10 per cent, or 2 per cent. less than was demanded. The employes waived their nine-hour day request, which never was considered seriously by the negotiation by either side.

In round figures the railroad employes will profit $3,000,000 during the coming year from the concessions made by the companies. The number of men who will gain by the advanced wage scales is close to 50,000.

Both sides to the controversy expressed themselves as highly pleased over the solution accomplished by the federal agents. They poke without reservation in praise of the federal conciliation idea.

DESERT ADAMS IN EFFORT TO BREAK STRIKE

Non-Union Drivers Slip Away in Crowd; Maine Lumbermen Misled.

POLICEMEN KEEP GUARD

Escorted by seven police officers, Strike Breaker Walter Adams took five of his imported teamsters to Jeffries's stable on D street, near Dorchester avenue, today, to make good his claim that he would break the strike of the union teamsters against eight trucking firms.

Johnson apparently hadn't asked for and didn't want Adams's importations. There was a long consultation at the stable door before the men were admitted. At the conclusion of a further conference the strike-breakers numbered only three. Two deserted and slipped away in the crowd.

Yesterday afternoon Captain Wescott was notified that fifteen strike-breakers would be at the corner of B street and Broadway today. Sergeant Partridge was sent there with six policemen to afford all protection necessary. A good-sized, good natured crowd gathered when the police showed up.

No Teams for Breakers.

Adams wasn't there, but he came along presently and announced that his crew was at the corner of Broadway and Dorchester avenue. There the police went, surrounded the five and with them boarded a car for Johnson's stable.

After it was found there were no teams for them Adams took the men back to the city proper.

"I have plenty of men," said Adams to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, "but I shall not make any efforts to take out teams to-day. It is not the kind of a day when I should want to work, and I don't care to have my men work. The men are wanted in town, where, I won't say."

Yesterday Adams announced that he would have 200 men in Boston by Saturday or Monday.

Firm's Name Missing.

The master teamsters made little effort to get their teams out on time to-day. They contented themselves with sending them out one at a time when not much attention was attracted.

A team slipped out of Fifield, Richardson's stable, driven by a man who wore no union button. The name of no firm appeared on the side of the dray. Where the name apparently was once there was a dash of fresh green paint.

The union men say that there will be no trouble on the part of the strikers; that they are determined to win the strike, but will win it by peaceful means. Every precaution is being taken by the officials to see that the order to keep away from the stables is being obeyed. As a result, it is asserted that in the crowds that gather about the stables there are to be found none of the strikers.

Maine Lumbermen Misled.

Demands for the removal of their freight are being made by some merchants who find the strike is costing them money, as well as the master teamsters.

A number of calls have been made at the union headquarters by lumbermen from Maine, who say that they came here to work as teamsters without knowing that there was a strike on. They are going back to Maine.

TO TAKE IRISH PLEA TO HAGUE

Ireland will soon declare its right to be represented at The Hague, according to the members of the Sinn Fein.

At a meeting of the recently formed Irish association in Wells Memorial Hall last night P. J. Ferguson said in his address:

"The Sinn Fein party in Ireland will no longer trust to promises which are never intended to be fulfilled, and as representation in a foreign parliament after taking an oath of allegiance to the King is not only degrading to Irishmen, but destroying their self-reliance, they will this year declare their right to be represented at The Hague and place their grievances before the nations."

The highest-grade, lowest-priced clothing that bears the Union Label is Monsemade.

CLUBMAN HELD AS A BURGLAR LEAVES CITY

Francis M. Gould, society man, member of Newton's exclusive clubs and received in the best homes of the city, charged with being a burglar and released on bail furnished by his wealthy aunt, has left Newton until his case is called for trial. Newton is shocked at the revelations made by young Gould's arrest.

But for the fact that he was caught in a house and took the police to the place where he had concealed some of the property, the charge would never have been believed.

"I don't know why I did it. I can't explain it myself," was all that he would admit at the police station. All first believed his identity, and said that his name was George H. Hamilton and that he lived in Lynn. He was so well known in Newton that his identity was quickly established.

Was Hiding in Cellar.

Gould was caught in the house of John F. Lesh, No. 955 Beacon street, where he was hiding in the cellar under a hay window. Fred Lesh, returning home at an early hour in the morning, was surprised to see a light flashing in the window, when he knew the family was away and that the servant must have retired. Lesh took Policeman Groth into the house with him, and the cellar, a light located the stylishly dressed young Gould.

At the station he first denied everything and then admitted that he had taken things. He showed the police where he had hidden them.

Gould he was held in $1,000 for a hearing next Tuesday. J. Weston Allen, a well-known Newton attorney, represented him. Mrs. J. Gould, his aunt, furnished the necessary bonds to secure his release and got quietly slipped away.

In his home on Langley Road, where he lives with his mother and two sisters, there is no one at home to-day. Mrs. Gould and daughters feel keenly the arrest of the second brother.

Brought Up in Newton.

Young Gould was born and brought up in Newton and graduated from the High School. His father is Dr. Charles Gould, who is in practice in Newton and now connected with a sanitarium in Rochester, Minn. The young man is twenty-five years of age.

For some time he has been a mystery to Newton people. He dressed well but no one seemed to know just what he did. He was generally away from town for three days a week. At one time it was said that he was employed in Haverhill and again he worked for a brokerage house on State street.

PRETTY GIRLS SEEK TO SHINE AS STAGE SUPES

Fair Young Women Hasten to the Majestic for Chance to Act in "Brown of Harvard."

The advertisement published by Manager Edward Smith of the Majestic Theatre for some Harvard men and some pretty girls to serve as extra "supes" for the opening of "Brown of Harvard" Monday night, brought him several pretty girls and several young men.

In regard to the men being actual collegians, however, Manager J. W. Stanley of the company, who was surveying the crowd with Smith, said:

Somehow, Ed, I don't think these are Harvard men, not according to what I have heard about them. The actual percentage of Harvard men in the crowd reminds me of the "g" sound in the word "phlegm."

"Never noticed that letter in the word you mention."

"No? well, I don't notice the Harvard boy out front, either."

Somehow, then, didn't seem like collegians, though they sized up a pretty fair looking crowd at that.

Girls Eager to Shine.

But the girls made the two managers cheer up. They were a well-dressed and capable line, all anxious to try their hand at being "supes." Some of them had had a bit of experience, as Manager Stanley quickly found out. Others were new to the theatrical game, their dramatic experiences having been limited to occasional recitations before select gatherings of ten and rakes on the side.

The first two girls in the line were appropriately dressed in brown. They were Miss Grace Bartholomew of No. 93 Harvard street. With her was her chum, Miss Mary Sullivan of No. 22 Francis street.

Other girls joined them, listening eagerly to Manager Stanley's directions about what they would have to do.

"I wonder where the Harvard boys are who are going to act with us," said one of the girls to another.

Thought Smith College Boy.

"Maybe he's one of them," said her companion, pointing to Manager Smith, who is youthful looking.

One of the last applicants was a pretty dark-haired girl who came up anxiously.

"I too late?" she asked Manager Stanley of the company.

"I guess not," he responded, whereat the girl brightened, till she saw a photographer taking a "snapshot."

A reporter asked her name and address.

"Well, I'll tell you my name," she said. "It's Carleton. Miss Bernice Carleton. But I don't tell you where I live."

"Now all you young collegiate Manager Stanley, "be on hand on time Monday morning for the rehearsal, sure."

In connection with this coming play, "Brown of Harvard," to Boston there is much interest at Harvard University in the production on account of Harry Woodruff, who plays the leading role, being a Harvard graduate. Next Monday will be "Harvard" night as well as the opening night, and the undergraduates are preparing to come over from Cambridge in large numbers to extend a rousing collegiate welcome to their fellow Cantabrigian.

BRITISH MEAT TRUST BALKED

LONDON, April 5.—At a meeting of the River Plate Fresh Meat Company, a concern of British capitalists doing a large trade in business in Argentina, it was announced that arrangements had been made with competing companies whereby the shipments of fresh meat from Argentina to Great Britain would be limited in quantity.

The British public do not look with favor on this new proposal to establish what would practically be a meat trust.

CYCLONE RAZES TOWN, KILLS 20

DALLAS, Tex., April 5.—A report from the train dispatchers of the Texas & Pacific railroad here says that at least twenty persons were killed and 100 injured in a cyclone early to-day at Alexandria. The storm has wrought appalling havoc. A great part of the town is in ruins. Fifty houses have been torn to bits, and several stores and factories demolished.

Alexandria is located near the centre of the State, and is an important railroad and commercial city of 7,000 persons. A great swath was cut through the town, extending for miles through a rich and populous farming district. The damage to crops and buildings will likely amount to millions.

Language Fails Him.

In his bewilderment at the sudden achievement of beneficial results in his deplorable condition, Mr. Miles, Clayton, Mich., says, with much fervor, that it is impossible for him to do justice to Dr. Burkner's Vegetable Compound as a blood purifier. He has been a sufferer for 16 years with scrofula and other troubles, of which this remedy speedily cured him. The blood is the vital fluid which reaches all parts of the body and thereby becomes an effectual transmitter of disease. Those suffering with skin diseases of whatever nature and ailments arising from disordered kidneys, which are not able to avoid from getting into the blood, causing rheumatism, lumbago and gout, are sorely in need of the famous remedy to free themselves of pain and the distressing symptoms of their ailments. Thirty days' treatment 25c. All druggists.

HARRIMAN NO VIOLATOR OF TRUST LAW

—J. G. MILBURN.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In closing his argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission in defence of the Harriman railroad transactions of the last few years, John G. Milburn of counsel for Harriman laid down several fundamental propositions in support of the claim that there was no violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in the purchase of the Southern Pacific by the Union Pacific.

These propositions will form the basis of the defence if the matter is taken into the courts with a view of prosecuting Harriman, president of the Union Pacific. The propositions were that:

"A restraint of trade, to be within the act, must be the direct, immediate and necessary effect of the transaction.

"The restraint of trade consequent upon the purchase of property, in any of its various forms, is incidental merely, and therefore not within the act.

"The purchase must, of course, be real, and provided the purchase be real and substantial the motive which induces it cannot affect the result; for any resultant restraint of trade is still only consequential and incidental to the exercise of an absolute and undoubted right; that is, the right to acquire property.

"Therefore, the purchase by a railroad company, within the corporate powers, of an interest in another line of railway, is not within the act, because the restraint upon trade, if any, is not direct, but merely incidental to the purchase.

"A purchase by a company of interest in the line of railway which is now parallel or not competing is not within the act.

"The purchase by the Union Pacific of its interest in the Southern Pacific was not made to suppress competition, but to protect its property by an extension of its line in that way to the Pacific coast.

"The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific are not parallel or competing lines or systems."

FAVOR 1 DAY IN 15 FOR POLICE

The policemen of Boston, if everything goes well with the bill reported favorably to the House of Representatives this afternoon, are to have one day off in fifteen. They had asked for one day in seven.

The Committee on Cities also reported a bill giving the policemen of other cities one day off in thirty.

To each of the bills is attached a referendum.

How to Exercise the Bowels

YOUR intestines are lined inside with millions of suckers, that draw the Nutrition from food as it passes them. But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it goes through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition. This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.

The usual remedy for this delayed passage (called Constipation) is to take a big dose of Castor Oil.

This merely make slippery the passage for unloading the current cargo.

It does not help the Cause of delay a trifle. It does slacken the Bowel-Muscles and weakens them for their next task.

Another remedy is to take a strong "Physic," like Salts, Calomel, Jalap, Phosphate of Sodium, Aperient Water, or any of these mixed.

This merely flushes out the Bowels with a waste of Digestive Juice, set flowing into the Intestines through the tiny suckers.

Cascarets are the only safe medicine for the bowels.

They do not waste any precious fluid of the Bowels, as "Physics" do.

They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine.

They simply stimulate the Bowel-Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably, and nutritiously.

They are put up in thin, flat, round-cornered Enamel boxes, so they can be carried in a man's vest pocket, or in a woman's purse, all the time. n739

The time to take a Cascaret is not only when you are Sick, but when you first suspect you need one. Price, 10c a box.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC." All druggists.

HAS BOSTON MORE BEAUTIFUL MOTHER AND BABE?

Here is but one of the many photos entered in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN'S great beauty contest. The mother is justly proud of her "fresh air" baby's health and beauty.

'ANY SINGER GOOD ENOUGH FOR HUB, CONRIED IDEA'

BY Charles Fleischer

AGAIN Caruso was the single and sufficient magnet to draw a great crowd to the Boston Theater. And once more his marvellously beautiful voice won the fervent acclaim which it deserves. The opera last night was "Marta." Flotow's opera is sixty years old, but age cannot stale the infinite charm of her melodies, many of which our mothers sang to us in childhood.

After four operas of mingled pathos, gloom and tragedy, it was a relief last night to listen to music which fairly sparkled with joy and to watch scenes usually comic, but with just enough of sighing to enlist sympathy with the lovers who, we knew, would finally "live happy forever after."

Substitution of Inferiors at Eleventh Hour Unfair.

And yet last night was a sad occasion. It was a climax either of treachery or of poor management. The usual "Special Notice" slip appeared in the programme, this time telling of "double, double, toil and trouble." More trouble for the audience, then toil for Manager Conried.

"Mme. Homer is suffering from an attack of gastritis and will not be able to sing before Saturday." That is true, I know. And we all regret the fact, both for Mme. Homer's sake and our own. We miss that excellent artist, one of the few really good singing actors left in the company.

But—indictment No. 1—why did Mr. Conried allow Mme. Kirkby Lund to leave his forces before the Boston season, and thus make impossible the substitution of a genuine contralto for Mme. Homer, instead of forcing Mme. Jacoby into impossible situations?

"Miss Abbott has wilfully broken her contract and has failed to appear for tonight's performance of Marta."

But—indictment No. 2—I am reliably informed that Mr. Conried knew before this week that Miss Abbott would not, on account of a rupture with the management, come to Boston at all.

Why, then, was she advertised even in last night's papers to sing in "Marta"? And, furthermore, why was not Mme. Semprich engaged to sing the part, instead of our being given the pitiably ineffective Miss Mattfeld?

Casts Inadequate; Below New York Standard.

Is it because Mr. Conried deems anything good enough for Boston, and is indifferent to the artistic merit of his performances here, as long as their tremendous financial success is assured?

All this might be plainly called, "obtaining money under false pretense," did not Mr. Conried have the obvious chance to say that no one needs to buy tickets, and that money is "cheerfully refunded" whenever a change in the programme is made.

Boston was punished by Mr. Conried last year, because we did not make good his own mistakes of the previous year. This year, opera-hungry Boston has laid golden eggs for Mr. Conried, but such treatment as he has given us may easily cause us to refuse to play the "goose" another year.

Thus much to voice a complaint which is by no means individual, but which I have heard day after day, and which was quite general last night.

In musical enjoy performances the casts have been inadequate—not bad by any means, but far below the standards of the company as established in New York, and not such as to warrant the high prices charged for seats.

And yet I want to say: that two little Italians alone were "worth the price of admission" last night. I refer firstly to the golden-throated Caruso, whose glorious voice was poured out for the fervently appreciative audience as lavishly as that indefinitable fervor always gives it.

The second "life-saver" was the diminutive Mr. Arturo Vizza, the conductor of the opera sung in Italian. Mr. Vizza has grown steadily in favor with the audiences, and last night was forced to accept, together with the principals, two raptrous curtain calls at the end of the second act.

MOTHER AND BABE PHOTOS WIN LAURELS

The mothers of Boston are finally awakening to the fact that it is not foolish conceit to send their own pictures along with the babies' in a try for the special $100 prize offered by the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN for the best mother and baby photograph. As a result the contest is doubling in interest.

Here is the most remarkable mother and baby picture of the week. It represents Mrs. R. S. Hoffman of No. 64 Highland avenue, Cambridge, and her thirteen-months-old baby, Mary Frances.

Mary Frances is a wonderful baby. She is healthy, hearty, happy, wise—and she is a fresh air baby in the fullest sense. Since she was ten days old she has never slept under a roof. Through the cold of Winter, the heat of Summer, Baby Mary Frances has taken her naps looking up at the great dome of heaven. Until her first year was passed her feet had been left uncovered. As a result they are pink, dimpled, perfect, suggesting by their daintiness Swinburne's exquisite roudel:

A wee in June's most humid heat,
When life makes least the kicking sin,
Was not so soft and warm and sweet.

And the picture proves that fresh air and bare feet have agreed with Baby Mary. When she was born she weighed seven pounds and fourteen ounces. At one year strength and wisdom and Mrs. Hoffman she weighed twenty-one pounds and eight feels justly proud of the result of her ounces. She is growing constantly in scientific care.

63 Radically New Cigar Stores in Boston

NATIONAL CIGAR STANDS

No advertisement could enumerate all the advantages of the "National" plan of selling cigars. Drop into any Drug Store in the National circuit, identified by the above trade-mark, and let us show you our Conditioning Stands and other special features.

Each Drug Store in this organization is an integral part of the National Cigar Stands Co.

All National brands of cigars are sold from the patent automatic "National" Conditioning Stand with which each store is equipped. These stands automatically maintain the proper conditions of humidity, and bring out the full flavor of the leaf and are provided with the National Hygrometer, an instrument which proves the accuracy of the National methods—as well as the condition of the cigar before you buy it.

Our stands carry all popular local brands as well as the "National" line.

The National Cigar Stands Co. has its own exclusive brands of cigars, including every size, shape and character; and on every one you save 40 per cent. or more over the prices paid for equal grades of ordinary brands. We can suit every taste.

When you have found your favorite cigar among the National Brands, you can get that cigar in any part of this city or in any section of the country—always in the best Drug Stores—always in the same condition and at the same price.

The united buying power of 2,200 stores brings our cigars direct to you with all middlemen's profits cut out. Added to this saving is the fact that we are under no extra expense for rent nor clerk hire for our cigar stands.

We issue a little catalogue listing and describing our many brands. A copy can be had at any of our stands, or will be sent by mail by any of the Drug Stores in the Company.

National Brands will remain always the same in size and quality—Cigars that are made right—kept right—sold right—smoke right.

THE National Cigar Stands, the largest, most sensible and thoroughgoing Retail Cigar organization, has now come to Boston. For the first time, lovers of good cigars can get full value for their money in this locality, and every cigar in prime condition.

The National Cigar Stands Co. is a co-operative corporation comprising over 2,200 of the best Drug Stores throughout the United States.

These Drug Stores have merged their Cigar Departments into one gigantic concern, manned by the most competent cigar experts, producing and marketing their own cigars through the drug stores of the organization.

We druggists of Boston have watched the growth and success of National Cigar Stands all over the country. We have seen this body of druggists, associated together to produce and sell cigars on a new and better plan, grow in eighteen months to the position of the largest and lowest-priced cigar dealers in the United States!

So the best druggists here have come into the "National" organization and now offer its overwhelming advantages to the smokers in every part of the Hub.

The tremendous selling capacity of this vast aggregation of stores has done away with the 4 to 6 middlemen's profits which have heretofore been loaded onto the prices that smokers have paid. The stores in the "National" organization now retail the National Brands of cigars at lower prices than individual cigar stores pay for goods of equal quality at wholesale. In other words you can now buy these brands at wholesale prices.

Today we mention, as an example of what this great co-operative scheme can do in the way of value-giving, the Black and White cigar, already the largest selling 5c. straight smoke in the country. Critical smokers of 3-for-25c. cigars are urged to compare this with the best they have known at the price they have paid in the past.

BOAT CRIPPLED; 500 IN ALARM

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Alarm amounting almost to a panic among the 500 passengers on the Fall River line steamer Providence was occasioned to-day by the breaking of the port cable attached to the steering gear as the steamer was passing through Hell Gate.

Nearly all of the passengers were still in their berths when the break occurred. The current in Hell Gate is most dangerous, and Captain Williamson, who was in the pilot house, sounded a distress signal in order to be assured of relief should occasion arise.

The fireboat Zophar Hills and four tugs rushed to the rescue.

The shrieking whistles aroused many of the passengers and caused them to tumble from their berths and rush into the saloon and on deck scantily clad.

One of the tugs was dashed against the side of the steamer and slightly damaged. Repairs were soon made.

NANCE O'NEIL TO PLAY 'CLEO'

Nance O'Neil, in "Cleo," the most discussed play of the present season, will follow Robert Edeson and "Strongheart" at the Park Theatre, the deal having been consumated last night. "Cleo" is the play which Mrs. Leslie Carter was to take out, but did not because she and the author failed to get into harmony in regard to some of the scenes. It is said to be "just the play Nance O'Neil has been waiting and watching for."

MILITIA OUT IN OHIO RIOT

LORAIN, O., April 5.—One company of the Fifth Regiment, Ohio National Guard, has been ordered here by Governor Harris to quell a riot resulting from the effort of the American Ship Building Company to import non-union men to take the place of its striking laborers in the shipyards.

A mob of 600 men and fifty women attacked a train having forty strike-breakers on board as it was pulling into the yards last night. Many shots were fired by the Pinkertons, but nobody was wounded.

W. L. DOUGLAS

BEST IN THE WORLD. $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN

Do you wear W. L. Douglas shoes? If not, I believe I can give you good and sufficient reasons why it will pay you to wear them.

I give the wearer the benefit of my thorough and practical knowledge of shoemaking, which has extended over fifty years.

I give the wearer the benefit of my exclusive method of tanning the bottom soles, which makes them more flexible and gives longer wear than any other sole leather produced in this country.

As I am the largest manufacturer of men's fine Hand-Sewed Process shoes in the world, it is necessary for me to purchase leather and other materials in enormous quantities; the benefit of the very low prices I obtain I give to the wearer in superior quality over other makes.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.
For the past 6 years I have worn W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes. They have given me more comfort, held their shape, and worn better than any $5 or $6 shoe which I have ever worn.
JOHN T. PETERSON, 191 Magazine St., Cambridge, Mass.

These are a few of the reasons why I make and sell more Men's Fine Hand-Sewed Process $3.50 Shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.

Your locks are like the snow,
But blessings on your frosty pow
John Anderson, my jo."

Consomme in Cups.
Creamed Sweetbreads in Silver Paper Cases.

Dorothy Dix Cites Close-Fistedness as One of the Most Trying of All the Numerous
AGGRAVATIONS OF MARRIED LIFE

Which Is Right, the Wife or the Stingy Man?

Is the most aggravating thing in married life?
Is it stinginess?
John is such a good man. He's just as steady as the town clock. He never goes out nights. He never gets drunk or wastes his money on trying to pick out the winners in the races, and as far as women are concerned, he wouldn't take a second look at the Venus de Medici if she should come strolling down the street in the latest Spring suit from Paris.
He's a handy man around the house, too, and will fix a window shade or hang a picture without having to be bullyragged into doing it by having all the neighbors thrown at his head.
And he's good about the children, too, and willing to take his turn upon occasion in walking the colic.
A worthy citizen. A good father, and he would be a good husband if wives were birds and were to be kept with feathers and the ability to scratch for a living and raise a family at the same time.
For John's one matrimonial drawback is that he is close about money and that he lives under a continual illusion that a woman is a miracle worker who ought to be able to provide three good meals a day, keep the house well furnished, clothe the family and be happy and contented herself on air.
Of course, no woman can do it. In the end John's family get what they ought to have and he pays the bills, but it is done at the price of continual conflict between him and his wife and continual heartburning on her part that makes her positively envy the woman who is married to a cheerful, generous sinner.
Ask such a woman what is the most aggravating thing in married life and she will say that it is a tight fist.
She'll say that there is no other one thing that can be so irritating, because there is nothing else that comes up so persistently and continuously in a day's work as the need for money.
She'll say every time I have to ask my husband for money it humiliates me, because it puts me in the attitude of a beggar.
Every time I get a new dress or a new hat I have to degrade myself in my own eyes by wheedling and cajoling the money for it out of him.
Every time the bills come in for the groceries that he and his children have eaten, and for the fuel that has kept them warm, and the light by which they have read of evenings I shudder with dread and apprehension at the reproaches that I know will be directed against me for not having kept expenses down.

Is the Wife in the Right?

And that's the reason, says the wife of the stingy man, that I think meanness about money is the most aggravating thing in married life, and if he don't believe it just you wait until some man asks you what did you do with that quarter he gave you week before last, and you have to clinch the market money to scrape off the price of an occasional matinee ticket.
And who shall say the wife of the stingy man isn't right?
What do the readers of the BOSTON AMERICAN think is the most aggravating thing in married life?
Write your opinion to this paper. It will not only relieve your feelings, but perhaps your husband or wife, thus having his or her particular fault pointed out, may correct it and remove the thorn from your pathway of domestic happiness.

WRITE your views on the subject, "WHAT IS THE MOST AGGRAVATING THING IN MARRIED LIFE?" and send them to Dorothy Dix, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston

BY DOROTHY DIX

WHAT is the most aggravating thing in married life?
The inexperienced will reply that it is one or another of the great sins, infidelity, brutality, drunkenness or gambling.
The experienced—those who have been there—know better. They know that it is not the big things that count so much in matrimony as the little things, and that more love and happiness is jabbed to death by the pin pricks of hateful ways than is ever slain by the sword thrust of crime.
It is a lot easier and more comfortable to forgive the partner of your bosom every now and then for doing something really wrong than it is to put up every day and hour with some fretting little habit that stings you like a gadfly at every turn.
In spite of the terrifying statistics of the divorce courts, most of us are sufficiently well satisfied with our matrimonial bargain to want to stick to it.

Matrimonial Difficulties

Yet married life isn't as happy as it ought to be. It is not the glad, sweet song that we thought it was going to be, and that it might be if only our married half didn't have some aggravating way that can be as irritating, because there is nothing else that comes up so persistently and continuously in the eye that keeps us irritated and nervous.
John is such a good man if only he didn't——
Mary is such an angel of a woman if only she wouldn't——
But he does.
But she will.
And there we are. What do you think? What is the most aggravating thing in married life?

A Talk With Girls Who Get the Habit of Falling in Love

By Beatrice Fairfax

THE extreme ease with which some girls fall in and out of love is astonishing. I speak with authority, because so many of them write and tell me that they have met a man three or four times and are desperately in love with him.
The chances are that within a month's time they will have met some other man and be just as desperately enamoured of him.
Undoubtedly you can be much attracted by a man the first time you meet him, but it stands to reason, dear girls, that you cannot be desperately in love with him. I know that there have been cases of love at first sight, but they are rare and, as a rule, not very long-lived.
And even if you should find yourself falling in love on very short acquaintance don't acknowledge your love until you are quite sure that it is the real thing.
If your love is not founded on respect and congeniality you might much better stifle it.
The romantic fervor of the honeymoon wears out in time, and if there is not a basis of companionship underneath it your life's happiness will be in a bad way.

A Good Motto

I HAVE a great many married friends, and the ones that are happiest are those who have something in common, whose tastes are similar and whose motto is "Live and let live." By that I mean that each recognizes the other's right to an individuality.
It is folly to marry on an acquaintance and engagement of a few weeks. Even at the best you do not know a man very well until you marry him. You have only seen his best side.
Do not make up your mind in a hurry, even though your heart may be clamoring for you to do so. Remember that you are not choosing a new frock, but a life partner. It is the most important step of your whole life. You must bring brains and common sense to bear on the question as well as heart.
Find out if you can whether your suitor is a good son. There is an old saying that "A good son makes a good husband."
And be sure that he respects all women. It would be dreadful to be the wife of a man who had no respect for your sex in general.
Be sure that he is sober and industrious. Laziness and intemperance are absolute bars to marital happiness.
A strict sense of honor is also indispensable in the man you promise to love and honor all the days of your life.

Don't Be in a Hurry

IT takes some time to find out all these things about a man. When you imagine that you fall in love with him at your first meeting you have simply fallen in love with his superficial qualities, his good looks, easy manner or smooth conversation.
Bear in mind that very often the finest, most worthy men have no time to fuss over clothes. As long as a man is neatly dressed it is not of the slightest importance whether or not his coat is of the latest cut.
The next time you find yourself "desperately in love" just sit down and think it over carefully. Find out how much you really know about the man. Don't accept him until you know that you can't live happily without him, and that you respect as well as love him.
Then go ahead and marry him after a reasonable time of courtship, and may you live happy ever after.

POTTED BEEF

A DISH equal to the best steak and more cheap enough for any one is prepared from a shank of beef with some meat on it. Have the bone well broken; remove carefully to remove bits of bone; cover with cold water; watch when the boiling begins and take off the scum that rises; stew five or six hours till the muscles are dissolved; break the meat small with a fork—far better than chopping—put it in a bread pan; boil down the gravy till in cooling it will turn to a stiff jelly. Where this is done, gelatine is quite superfluous. Add salt and if liked other seasoning, and pour it hot upon the meat; stir together and set aside over night when it will cut into handsome molded slices for breakfast or supper.

DRESSING FOR RED CABBAGE

"THE BRACEBRIDGE DIAMONDS"

FRANK beckoned Detective Loftus aside.
"You examined the body in the trunk pretty thoroughly, did you not?" he asked.
"Yes."
"Was there any mark upon the arm?"
"Just above the elbow there was a black and blue discoloration made by jamming the body too hurriedly into the trunk. Otherwise there was nothing," replied the detective.
Fate again! Both bodies mutilated at the only positive point of identification. But the preponderance of evidence was for the body before them. Frank made his decision quickly.
He turned to the director with a reassuring smile and said: "Oh, no, I have not the slightest doubt about that; only"—but before Frank could add another word the director replied with manifest relief: "Very well, then, I will leave you to be certain legal formalities, certain declarations to sign at the Detective Office at Police Headquarters. This done, I shall be pleased to hand over the dead man's effects and body."
The plunge was thus taken into a muddy, a very serious quandary, and how Frank was to get out of it again time alone could tell. At the crucial moment, however, he was indeed thankful that in the astute Detective Loftus he had met a powerful backing whatever might befall.
"I may further say," continued the director, "that to save you unnecessary trouble I will have the body prepared for transmission to New York. The expense will be very trifling."
Frank thanked him very warmly for his courtesy, and, as a new idea then spelt into his brain, added:
"I purpose writing at once to the gentleman who sent the bills to my cousin, asking him to come to-morrow. I should wish him also to identify the body. That would be quite conclusive."
"Oh, quite so, though really quite unnecessary," said the urbane director. "Still, it will be my pleasure to meet your wishes in every way, sir."
Five minutes later they were out upon the sweltering Boulevard again.

"A Bad Job"

"Well, Mr. Detective," Frank said, "what is your honest opinion of this job, anyhow?"
"A bad job, as I told you just now," said he. "Still, I think you have done the proper thing. No mistake this time, in my opinion. A capital idea, too, that of letting the coroner's verdict stand over. It confirms our opinion, then you are clean out of the woods and need not fear awkward questions."
"But what about this Baroness, eh? Funny how she has got mixed up with the whole affair. Who can the other victim be, and how the deuce did he get into her Saratoga trunk?"
"The Lord only knows," said Frank, affecting a nonchalant air he was far from feeling. "My hair will be snowy white over this matter. Meanwhile, here's an electric car. Suppose we jump into it and get situated and send a wire off to Harris."
This was agreed to, and within a quarter of an hour a telegram was speeding on its way to New York.
Then they walked back to the Grand Hotel.
"Well," said the smiling clerk, "I suppose you have been in the country?"
"Yes, and identified the body," Frank replied. "We shall be stopping here now. Kindly give us two rooms. I may require another. Will you know later on?"
Meanwhile I should like to have a look at Miss Bracebridge's baggage."
"He brought very little with him, sir," was the reply.
"So much the less to examine."

The Telegram

He laughed and rang the bell. A bell-boy appeared, who, having received his instructions, motioned them to follow, and led the way.
"This way," said he. "The room is just here, and his not been disturbed since the young fellow left it," and with Last he unlocked a door and stood aside.
It was just as the clerk had said. There was. Indeed, very little to examine—a few toilet accessories on the dressing table and a small portmanteau containing underclothes and other essential items of apparel, nothing more. All this Frank could rapidly understand, as it quite accorded with Reggie's telegram to the hotel in New York, where his baggage still remained.
His was doubtless a very precipitate departure from New York. He had probably made a few hasty purchases on his way to the station. Detective Loftus concurred in thinking him a very reasonable conjecture, and both were more convinced than ever that the glorious mistake had been made in New York, and that they were undoubtedly on the right track at last.
A few minutes later they were out on the street again, this time in quest of the Chief of Police. It is needless to give a detailed account of what took place there. All difficulties were satisfactorily smoothed over and every formality duly complied with, so that within a couple of hours Frank and Loftus were empowered to take possession of Reginald's body and all his effects.
When they got back they found the expected telegram:

All right; coming, though don't understand. Meet me at station to-night.
HARRIS.

"So far so good," said Frank. "That relieves my mind. Now let us go to the hotel and engage a room for Harris."
"He'll be," said the hotel clerk, as they were coming away, "one thing I forgot to tell you, sir. Mr. Bracebridge seemed very anxious about a telegram he expected to receive from Baltimore. He was in and out half a dozen times a day inquiring if it had come. In case a telegram should arrive after you leave shall I forward it on to you?"
"I should be extremely glad, if you would," Frank said, producing his card. "Inclose it to this address, and thank you very much for the suggestion."
Then they went out upon the sweltering street again and felt the heated asphalt yielding softly to every foot-tread.
"What do you say to the shady side?" said the detective, mopping his forehead, "with something nice and cool under an awning?"
"With a lunch to follow," Frank interposed. "Capital."
Frank fell in with the suggestion of Detective Loftus, because it gave him the opportunity he long wanted.
The secret of the Bracebridges with its various ramifications oppressed him. Reginald's death had much depressed him. He resolved to take Miss Loftus into his confidence.
He knew that Loftus was absolutely to be trusted, and besides he wanted to enlist his aid for the final Titanic struggle with Mueller which Frank felt certain was impending. He therefore accepted Loftus's suggestion with alacrity.

A PRETTY APRON

No. 5775—A dainty child's apron always adds to the trim appearance of the little school girl. New designs are constantly being shown, but none more becoming to the little maiden than those having a full gathered skirt, hanging straight from a narrow yoke. A broad ruffle finishes the neck edge and gives style to the little garment, but it may be omitted if desired, and a narrow lace edging could be used to finish the neck. The materials most in use for aprons are cross-barred muslins, lawn, linen and gingham. For a child of seven years 2¾ yards of 36-inch material will be required.
No. 5775—Sizes for 3, 5, 7 and 9 years.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

HAD WARNING

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
Some time ago a gentleman asked permission to call on me, and I liked him very much I allowed him to do so. He told me then that he was not in a position to marry for a year and a half or two years. Now, after calling steadily three nights a week for eight months, he informed me about a week ago "that as he never intended to marry, he was only spoiling my chances and would not call any more." In all the time he called on me he never took me anywhere or went to any public gathering. Once when I asked him to go to a whist party that my friends were giving he excused quite indignantly and said no, indeed, he would not. Now, does it not seem as if he never cared for me, and was he not unjust to call so long and so steadily? As I am only 17 I feel the unpleasant position in which he has placed me with my friends.
B. C.

It is rather hard on you, but I really think he gave you pretty fair warning that his intentions were not serious. He evidently was not a very pleasant companion any way, and you probably will be happier without him. You need not feel sensitive on the subject; people will think that it was merely a friendship, not a love affair.

KEYHOLE PLUGGED TIGHT BY THE 'SOAK-EM' CLUB

e Trust in Secret Conclave Finds Houses Over-stocked and Cuts Summer Prices.

ehind doors double-locked, with the key-es plugged, the transoms screened, the dows curtained and the ventilators ed up, with guards at all doors and a cial committee on identification at the rmost entrance so that no newspaper orter should get near, to say nothing getting in, the local Ice Trust, alias the ak 'Em Club," alias the Massachusetts Dealers' Association, has met in secret annual session and decided actually ast year the horrid newspapers report President Estabrook of the club as say that now was the time to "soak 'em." "'em" being presumably the consumers. s raised an awful row, and legal pro-ings resulted on the ground that the ice ers were illegally conspiring in re-int of trade to increase unlawfully the e of a public necessity.

fence the precautions at this present ting to prevent misuse publicity.

Trust Has Too Much Stock.

few chilly facts were given out, how-, at the close, of the meeting, chief mong them being the admission that the ce Trust was stocked away up on ice now and would probably cut the price to that of two years ago. So this Summer the out-side rate for family trade should be thirty cents per hundred pounds, delivered.

There were twenty-four questions sub-mitted for general discussion. One of the most interesting from the consumer's stand-point was, "Shall we refuse to deliver ice in flat buildings above the second story without extra charges per story?" Decision on this question is anxiously awaited by people on the third floor and upward.

Listened to Ancient Ice History.

Secretary Charles W. Hallstrum, who gave out the report of the meeting, said that a feature of the session was a paper read by John J. Bright of Cambridge on the history of the ice business in Massachusetts since 1823. Mr. Hallstrum failed to say whether he added that this paper was very interesting. In the opinion of the newspaper men who received this report the accurate and inside history of that business for the past two or three years could not fail to be of absorbing interest.

The officers elected were: President, Howard H. Davenport, Somerville; vice-president, J. Milton Gill, Springfield; secretary and treasurer, Charles W. Hallstrum, Boston; executive committee, Lewis G. White, Worcester; William H. Burney, Hopedale; Lewis A. Holt, Lawrence; Silas Reeves, Quincy; Marshall S. Coolidge, Lynn; J. Edward Kimball, Cambridge; J. Frank Pope, Mattapan; George D. Miller, Newton Centre.

PROTEST WORK OF INSPECTORS

Carrying out instructions given him by Hoisting and Portable Engineers' Union No. 1 at last night's meeting, Secretary A. M. Pike to-day sent a protest to Governor Guild against boiler inspectors of the State police department doing detective work.

The matter was called to the attention of the union by President A. M. Hoddell, who cited the case of Inspector Frank C. Hinckley, who was taken from boiler inspecting to work up a case against the sixteen members of the Winnisimmet Athletic Club of Chelsea, who were found guilty Wednesday of illegally setting up and promoting a public boxing match.

FURIOUS ITCHING HUMOR ON CHILD

Bleeding Sores Covered Her Whole Body After an Attack of Measles —Nursed Every Night for Three Weeks—Nothing Helped Her.

THEN CUTICURA MAKES COMPLETE CURE IN 5 DAYS

"It is in my opinion my duty to join those who praise the Cuticura Remedies. After my granddaughter of about seven years had been attacked with the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious, itching and painful eruption all over her body, especially the upper part of it, forming in watery and bleeding sores, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered a great deal and for three weeks we nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help. We then remembered having heard so much about Cuticura Remedies. We sent for them and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and, after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, had been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. Mrs. F. Ruefenacht, R. F. D. 2, Bloomfield, Cal., June 25 and July 20, 1906."

HUMOR ON FACE

Cured by Cuticura Remedies No Return in 20 Years.

"My son, when a lad of sixteen, was troubled with humor on his face and after using Cuticura Remedies he was freed from every humor and has continued so to the present time after twenty years have passed. Your Cuticura Soap has been used in my family for several years and I have faith in the Cuticura Remedies." A. H. Shinick, Marion, Me., Dec. 1, 1905."

WHOLE WORLD OF SPORTS COVERED FOR THE BOSTON AMERICAN BY ITS CORPS OF EXPERTS

TENNEYITES WIND UP WORK AT TUFTS TODAY

It has been a great treat for the local fans to be able to go out to Tufts College and watch the Tenneyites do their practice stunts with the college boys.

Just back from the South, the National team has knocked out all the kinks of a long Winter's rest, and on old Jumbo Hill they are putting up some of the real diamond article which will be seen on the South End grounds this season.

Yesterday was the second conflict with the college varsity candidates, and while the leaguers ran the score up to double figures it was a close argument for a few innings, which was pleasing to the grafts observers who crowded the baselines.

That there is perfect harmony prevailing the ranks of the Doreyites is in evidence by the constant kidding matches going on among the players, and there is no room for any disgruntled member who fails to stand for a good-natured josh.

Ossy Turner seems to be the target for a lot of humor, yet Gus is equal to any in the smooth work and is a mighty fast baserunner. Gus is feeling the aggravation of a touch of grippe, but doesn't let that stand in the way of keeping the team on the jump.

To-day will wind up the practice out at Medford, as there will be no more trips until to-morrow with Frank Leonard's Lynn aggregation, but there will be a game with the college boys and Tenney's men have handled by the spirited varsity.

Yesterday was a bit chilly for any stylish dummy tricks, but the team got out on the surface and tried to do each other.

Turner tried out Jacobson and Hooper and Dorner in the box and alternated with Tom Needham and Orendorf behind the bat.

Lindeman warmed up and was trying to get his mitt ball before he was ordered to vacate. Tom Needham distinguished himself by pounding out a homer, and might have had a couple, but stumbled and fell all over himself in trying to negotiate after he had rounded third's close on the first base.

The college boys had their batting clothes on and found Hitz and Dorner to be some of the offerings of the high-salaried leaguers. The first-named got off the low fence for a home run smash in one of his efforts at collecting, and Dorner was on this for what he did the first time up—a three-bagger. With one outside he was nailed out a mean distance on the first ball pitched.

It makes a big difference in the team with the presence of Ritchey at second, as he fills in the gap in the infield which has been so noticeable in the past. Fred Tenney will be content to play first after Ritchey darts at him and he has to bump himself to get back to the sack on return plays.

He intimates that Ritchey covers his ground with more speed than Bobby Lowe did in his palmiest days.

With the coming of Beaumont the team will probably remain intact as it now stands. Brush, who is filling in at centre field, is a fair-to-middling fast man at the player, and it would not be surprising if Tenney prevailed upon him to stay with the team as a utility outfielder.

President Dovey says that the team is not in the market for any more players as they, and it will be left for the great first baseman to do the honors on return to camp from now on.

Pitcher Ed Brown, who has two fingers on his throwing hand bound up, the team is in perfect trim to start the year a-rolling in the pennant race.

Fred Woodcock, who played with Tenney at Brown, was an interested spectator yesterday, and commented favorably on the appearance of the team.

FOREIGNERS LIKE RACES BETWEEN STOCK CARS

By J. C. Kerrison.

According to W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who has just returned from Europe, the foreign trend in racing is against competition among machines built only for high speed contests and in favor of stock car competition. The conditions to govern the Emperor of Germany's cup race over the Taunus circuit are indicative of this theory and have given general satisfaction.

Mr. Vanderbilt declined to admit that he had seen representatives of the automobile clubs of France, Italy or Great Britain concerning conditions and matters to govern the Vanderbilt Cup race. His trip abroad, he said, had simply been one of pleasure for Mrs. Vanderbilt and himself.

J. W. Maguire Company has secured the old Napier exhibition establishment, 30 Boylston street, as an addition to its quarters. The part with which it is to be moved and the two stores made into one large and commodious salesroom, with the offices of the company in the rear. This acquisition has long been desired by Mr. Maguire, in fact to tell the truth the conditions of the business has really demanded such a move. The Napier company is closing its Boston agency with Vanderbilt Cup race. His trip abroad, he said, had simply been one of pleasure for Mrs. Vanderbilt and himself.

E. S. Breed has opened his second-hand salesroom at No. 41 Huntington avenue, where he will unquestionably enjoy quite a business. Mr. Breed is one of the oldest men in the local trade, and his experience in the past has been such as impresses him with the fact that a properly conducted second-hand business can be conducted with satisfaction to the purchaser as well as seller, the result being his opening of what might be termed a clearing house for second-hand cars. He has made arrangements with certain of the leading dealers whereby they will come into possession of the second-hand cars secured by them in their usual business.

"The Use and Misuse of the Commercial Vehicle" will be the subject of the talk by Fred H. Adams at the smoker of the Bay State Automobile Association to be held to-morrow evening. Perhaps no man is better qualified to talk on this subject than is Mr. Adams, who for several years past has been closely identified with the commercial vehicle uses in this city.

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Massachusetts State Automobile Association will be held at the rooms of the Bay State Automobile Association on Tuesday afternoon next.

E. R. Thomas of Buffalo, manufacturer of automobiles and entrant of three Thomas cars in the last Vanderbilt Cup race, makes a strong protest against cylinder displacement as a basis of classification in the proposed race on the Long Island course for American stock cars. He urges that weight should be the only basis.

"I heartily approve a long distance endurance race for American cars," said Mr. Thomas, "but protest against any restrictions as to motors, clutches, transmissions, bearings or any other one feature, except chassis weight. Supplementing the weight of standard touring cars, for the reason that such weight is supposed to provide for safe racing frames. The factors of safety, size and strength are too important to be omitted, and a car must be judged as a whole and not by any one feature.

"I believe there should be no limit in speed capacity, except in so far as to permit each engineer to attain his objects—race performance and reliability—as they see fit. Great contests of speed and other features controlled such as fuel consumption, displacement, carburetors and tires, must necessarily be minor ones."

JOE HUMPHREYS TAKES 'CORBETT' UNDER HIS WING

NEW YORK, April 5.—"Young Corbett" arrived in town yesterday, looking the picture of health and strength after the long trip out West. As the smiling ex-champion greeted his friends he looked more like the Corbett who conquered Terry McGovern than he has since he met Battling Nelson.

"Corbett" placed himself under the wing of Joe Humphries, who managed Terry McGovern, and announced that he is going to fight.

"I never felt better in my life," said he, "and this time I mean it. The trip out West did me a world of good in one way, for it served to take off a great deal of the surplus beef that I acquired while with me. I've been wandering about in Washington, but there is nothing doing in the way of purses, so I decided to come back to New York to see if Joe couldn't arrange a match for me.

"All I want is a chance at Tommy Murphy. I have been boiling almost every day, and am now much faster than I was when I met him in Philadelphia. I know that most people believe that I am a 'has been,' but I want to say right here to the public that there are a few good fights left in me yet."

Humphries has arranged to have Corbett train at Johnson's road house, and Charlie Mayland will train him. Young Tuttle, who has always looked after Corbett, is now busy training the New York Giants, and will therefore be unable to take care of Corbett.

Humphries has already received several offers of fight for Corbett. Johnny Terrio, manager of the Riverpoint A. C., which opens on April 19, said he would like to have Corbett fight Kid Stinger or Frankie Delphia, before his club on that night. Humphries is waiting to hear from Herb Crowhurst, manager of Spike Robson, and Jack McGuigan of the National A. C., of Philadelphia, before accepting the offer. Corbett also wants to fight Abe Attell or Matty Baldwin. He realizes that he will have to start from the bottom, but believes that he can "make good."

Almost the first thing "Corbett" said when he arrived was to inquire about Terry McGovern. Humphries told him that Terry was in excellent physical condition, but that his mental condition was about the same.

"I'm very sorry for Terry," said "Corbett." "I always liked him. As soon as I get a chance I'm going to pay him a visit. I'm a 'has-been' myself, and I know how it feels."

EAST BOSTON WON AGAIN.

With an offence that was irresistible, in the last seven minutes of play East Boston registered its second victory of the series at East Boston last night, by the score of 33 to 17. Up to the last seven minutes of play the Lynnites had played a dashing game, and at one period it looked as though the South Shore team would meet a setback, but the latter gathered speed over the close of the half and literally played horse with the C. L. A. team.

BILL O'LEARY N. & G. COACH.

With Pat Donovan unable to coach, the Noble & Greenough boys made their first definite step toward securing an instructor for the rowing candidates, and for the next few weeks the crews will be under the direction of Bill O'Leary, a former Riverside Boat Club coach. Coach O'Leary started his duties yesterday, and, judging from the progress he made with the candidates, Noble & Greenough will have two exceptionally speedy crews.

IT PAYS TO BE ON THE SQUARE DECLARES NELSON IN HIS FINAL ARTICLE ON BOXING

No. 10—Nelson Series

Battling Nelson, in the last of his series of articles for the Boston American today, makes a remarkable plea for honor and manliness. "Do your best; it pays to be on the square. Your friends and the public have a right to expect every man to do his best," says Nelson. The article follows:

BY BATTLING NELSON.

I've tried to show you in the nine preceding articles how to acquire the quickest way to deliver it, how to retain it, and how to keep from becoming a Has Been.

I have told you the rules regarding health, the necessity of good, well-cooked food and the requirement of plenty of sleep.

There is only one more thing I would like to discuss.

That is the necessity of being on the square.

The first duty of every athlete—every boxer, professional man, workman or school boy is to do his level best every time.

A man whose living depends upon the patronage of the people can never afford to be a quitter.

When you hire a physician you expect him to bring you to health by the shortest, safest and least expensive route.

When you hire a lawyer you are not employing him to get you into trouble, but to assist you out of your difficulties.

If you are a comedy actor the public pays up its money to see you do your best, to be as funny and clever as you can.

Or if you are any one of a dozen theatrical part, it's up to you to be as lugubrious as you can. If you are Gloomy Gus, why, be gloomy.

DO YOUR BEST ALWAYS.

If you are a ball player, try to knock the cover off the ball and keep the crowd on its toes as much as possible. By that I don't mean a grand stand player, but remember the crowd can see punk players without parting with its coin and it wants to see something out of the ordinary.

If you have a perpetual grouch on, don't expect the crowd to sympathize with you. They are out there to forget their own trouble and don't want to be reminded of yours. The most popular man in the world can groom himself into public disfavor.

If you are a fighter, remember the crowd has spent its ticket money, not to see the expensive and inconvenience of a long railroad journey to see the fight.

The crowd wants to see your best punch.

It isn't there to see you skip the rope or go through a series of calisthenics.

It wants to see you knock your man out.

OR

It wants to see him knock you out.

BE HONEST ALWAYS.

If you win you are a hero.

That won't get you anything in itself.

Adulation is the most fickle thing in the world.

Now if you are out to win on the square the public forgets some of the beatings you have received as long as you continue to be honest.

The biggest mistake any man can make is to lose his self-respect.

It is easy for fighters to get together and agree on which is to get the decision, but they can both get it and live without any fear of losing.

Perhaps they let with men who are the best friends of the the man who is to throw the fight.

The public is cynical and wise to its generation.

It can pretty nearly always tell when a game is crooked.

And let a man once lose the confidence and respect of his friends and he is a "has been" then and there.

The most important thing that any man can learn when he is young is:

Be on the level when a double-crosser as you would a snake.

A man can't afford to even shake hands with one of this kind even if they have never wronged him.

It rulses suspicion in the minds of others that he is not all that he should be.

MIND YOUR ASSOCIATES.

When a detective sees a thief talking on the street to a man who is unknown to the officer the latter thinks at once:

"I wonder who that other thief is?"

Where a man who is an honest man and no one who knows the former but not the latter thinks:

"I wonder who that other fakir is?"

A man has to be jealous of his reputation.

Not only does a fakir or a crook lose his own reputation, but he injures the reputations of all his honest relatives and associates.

Once a friend and myself dropped into the Central Station. A man had been arrested while on the way to the theatre with his wife.

Evidently she had never heard a word of suspicion against him.

There was a terrible scene following his arrest.

The woman fainted and was taken home senseless.

The man protested. He was wild with rage and despair.

"Why couldn't you have waited, you lousy fool, and think I am a model husband; why couldn't you have waited until to-morrow?" he protested.

CAN'T TAKE CHANCE.

"We couldn't afford to take any chances; you are too slippery a chap," said the hard-hearted sergeant.

"It pays a man to be decent," my friend said. I never realized the truth of that remark before—its full truth and import.

There are times when a man can't be generous.

It is up to him to put his opponent out of business.

This is especially true in the boxing game.

Honest endeavor is its own reward.

It brings friends and a reputation that is a valuable asset of money.

Fakery brings public contempt and loss of reputation and means self-respect.

Remember that, you young fellows.

Now that George A. Huff, athletic director at the Illinois University, has declined to act as the Illinois football next season, it is likely that President Taylor will have to take the field and manage the team in charge of the club, as he originally intended.

It is said that Hugh McBreen, the treasurer of the club, has had a conference with Hugh Duffy, now manager and part owner of the Providence team, and that the latter will accept the berth as manager if given a contract for two or three years.

It seems as though Duffy would make an ideal man to handle the Boston team. He has made good as manager of several of the big professional clubs. While at the head of the Quaker outfit he did remarkable work considering the poor material at his disposal.

The Boston fans have great confidence in the ability of Duffy, and they will be glad if he is given charge of the team. It is a cinch that the local fans would much rather have a Boston man at the helm of the Boston American team than a stranger, and they will take unusual pride if he is able to make a good showing with the nine.

Duffy is at present the manager and part owner of the Providence team of the Eastern League. Fred Lake is his partner in the venture, but it is a cinch that if Duffy and Lake can find a Boston man who could handle the Chan Diggers alone in addition to his duties.

There are many other men in Boston that are employed as likely managers of the Americans. Tom McCarthy, the old running mate of Duffy when they played with the Baltimores, and now coach of the Dartmouth baseball team, is spoken of as a possibility. Mindy Morgan is another man who the fans think would make good if given control of the players.

The chances are that Taylor will hurry back home and make arrangements with some local man before the opening of the season at Philadelphia next Thursday.

HUFF REFUSES TO ACCEPT POSITION AS MANAGER OF BOSTONS

CHAMPAGNE, Ill., April 5.—George A. Huff, athletic director of the University of Illinois and coach of its famous baseball team, will not leave his classic surroundings to become manager of the Boston American League club.

President John T. Taylor gave out the information at the close of a conference with the local baseball expert, the conference the pair had almost an hour. Taylor arrived. Taylor and Huff talked matters over at the hotel, after which Bostonian gave it out that there was nothing doing. One of the leading obstacles in the way of securing the Illinois baseball coach was the fact that he is tied up by until June 1, and could not get away until by using bad faith. Another reason why Huff felt reluctant to accept is that he would be taking a big proposition in jumping into a league to which he is a stranger, without any preparation.

BOSTON AMERICANS PLAY SPRINGFIELD THIS AFTERNOON

Special to the Boston American.

DAYTON, April 5.—Disappointed because there was no game here yesterday with the local nine, which was postponed on account of rain, the Boston American left here early this morning for Springfield, where they will play this afternoon.

The Young's left yesterday afternoon for his home in Tuscawara County, where he will stay until his team reaches Canton, when he will join them as Umpire Grady's team.

Boston will play two games at Springfield, one at Columbus and two at Canton, going then to Philadelphia for the opening of the season.

The entire Boston outfit is in good physical shape with the exception of Hobe Ferris, whose ankle is still sore from the spiking he got the other day.

JOE GRIM WALLOPED.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—Sailor Burke handed out a good walloping to Joe Grim at the end-round function at the Broadway A. C.

WILL CONTROL THE OLYMPIC IN ENGLAND

The British Olympic Council has issued a statement to the effect that the Amateur Athletic Association will be in full charge of the Olympic games; that is, the events held in the stadium. From what can be gathered of the proceedings so far the Englishmen are going to run the games themselves and as they see fit with not the least interference from the outside. They contend that when the games were held in London in 1908 England did not try to interfere, and the Frenchmen had things as they pleased. Wherever the one from England attempt the least direction in connection with the games held at St. Louis in 1904, nor at Greece last year, it is England's turn now, and she is going to have her way. Sporting Life remarks on the situation editorially as follows:

"It is satisfactory to note the statement that the Olympic Council have now agreed to let the athletic events at the Olympic games be under the entire control of the A. A. A. This is as it should be. Wherever athletic contests are held they ought to be controlled by the recognized governing body of that sport in the country where they are to be decided. Any other system is sure to lead to friction. When the races were held at St. Louis, Paris and Athens the A. A. A. did not seek any share in the control of the sports, and there is no valid reason why any outside body should be called in. We may hope now to hear less of the bickering among those whose chief anxiety seem to have been concerned with the financial rather than the sporting side of the games. One thing may be taken as granted. The Amateur Athletic Association will not wish to have any share or stake in the financial arrangements of the Anglo-French exhibition, but will be quite content to deal with the details connected with the games themselves.

TRYING TO STOP BOXING ON THE COAST

By Boston American Leased Wire.

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—City Attorney Hewitt yesterday introduced an ordinance in the city council designed to prevent the holding of prize fights in Los Angeles. The proposed ordinance does not prevent the giving of boxing contests, but it makes them absolutely harmless in that it provides that gloves used in sparring exhibits must weigh not less than nineteen ounces.

Attorney Hewitt explains to the council that the ordinance was his own personal property, adding that he had been prompted to introduce it because he had become convinced that there was only one way that graduated from the race course into base.

In 1895 Shay was associated with Jockey Johnny Talbot in handling a string of horses owned at Madison Square Garden and Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, which he races when they are not in New York. St. Nicholas, a good sprinter, was the stable's main reliance. The stable had little luck and finally all hands went broke. Shay then made his mind to play ball for a living.

"My ball playing was limited to games on the lots," says Shay. "A number of my schoolboy friends were playing in minor leagues. None of them, I knew, had me beaten any when we played alongside of each other. I sought a job and got it. The answers when I say I pitched my way through. I was always a little bit 'cocky,' and when I donned the spangles I made all my associates think I had been in the game for years.

"Signs, 'bunting,' sacrificing, hitting and running together were unknown to me. However, I cut in as best I knew how. When I failed I would matter how good enough for my manager to hear about how unlucky I was."

SHAY FOUND RACING GAME TOO HARD

"Horse racing is too tough a game for me," says Danny Shay, who will help take care of the Bunny Infield next season. "That's why I am a professional baseball player."

Dandy Dan Shay is probably the only professional of renown who graduated from horse owner to ball player. "Blondie" Purcell, "Orator" Schaefer, Chauncey Fisher, "Bid" McPhee, Jim McCormick, Tom Daly, Jim Davis and other ball players have gone into horse racing from the baseball field, but Shay is the only one who graduated from the race course into base.

In 1895 Shay was associated with Jockey Johnny Talbot in handling a string of horses owned at Madison Square Garden and Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, which he races when they are not in New York. St. Nicholas, a good sprinter, was the stable's main reliance. The stable had little luck and finally all hands went broke. Shay then made his mind to play ball for a living.

Sir—We have this day shipped you 150 pieces of worsteds and serges, comprising the excess output of Mill No. 1 during the past two months.
Although these goods are equal to any ever produced on our looms, we send them to you for disposal at whatever prices you may deem expedient.

"Killed by kindness" You've heard this old saying, founded on the story of the popular Roman actor whose death was caused by the enthusiastic audience throwing hats and mantles in such numbers that he was suffocated.
This nearly describes our position. Now in the midst of the Spring season, with our tables fairly groaning under the weight of thousands of yards of woolens, we are staggered by this additional invoice sent us in kindly interest by the home office.
Their suggested sacrifice sale is forced, not optional. We are obliged to sell these goods to make room, and today we offer you the choice of this entire shipment—150 pieces—over 7500 yards of the finest Scotch woolens in the world—worsteds, cheviots and serges.

Did You Ever See a Man Steal a Bottle of Water?

That Answers the Question, "Will Men EVER Become Indifferent to Money?"

We have occasionally suggested that in the development of the world and of humanity a time must come when men's minds will no longer be fixed upon money or upon love of property of any kind.

Many friendly readers have questioned this, and have asked how it is possible that men should ever lose their overwhelming love of money.

We answer the question at the head of this column.

Why do men love money? BECAUSE IT REPRESENTS LIFE'S NECESSITIES AND LUXURIES. Because without it they cannot TODAY get the things they need or want. And if they struggle to get more money than they need it is from fear of the future, or from ingrained second nature.

BUT THE TIME WILL COME WHEN MEN WILL BE AS INDIFFERENT TO MONEY AS THE AVERAGE SENSIBLE MAN IS INDIFFERENT NOW TO FANCY ORNAMENTS.

As for the fact that money is a necessity, it is so only in this stage of our development.

Money is not AS NECESSARY TO LIFE AS WATER. No man can live without water, and in the Desert of Sahara there is many a tragedy because one man steals the flask of water belonging to another.

But no man in this country is afraid that somebody will walk into his bathroom, or go out to his well, and STEAL A BOTTLE OF WATER.

A man may worry about the clothes hanging out on the clothes line; about the calf out in the field; the chicken that has disappeared, or the loose change left on his bureau in the hotel bedroom, BUT NOBODY IS AFRAID THAT THE WATER, PRECIOUS AS IT IS, WILL BE STOLEN. WHY? Because there is enough for all, and we know it. When a man knows that he can have what he actually needs, HE WANTS NO MORE.

If you found some man wasting his energy struggling, scheming, committing crimes and bribing TO MAKE HIMSELF THE OWNER OF THE OCEAN, you would laugh at him. You would say, "Poor, foolish man, that will do you no good. You can have all the water you want, all you need, so can your children and their children forever. Why do you waste your time and spoil your better nature trying to get control of that ocean?"

In the future that would be said to John D. Rockefeller.

He has worn out his life, lost his hair, his reputation, his capacity to enjoy himself, PILING UP AN OCEAN OF MONEY, MADE OUT OF AN OCEAN OF KEROSENE OIL.

What good does the whole thing do him? He is simply the victim of conditions.

He lives in this day when the grabbing of money SEEMS NECESSARY. Men living on an earth that could support all of them, and ten times as many of them, well haven't yet had brains enough to organize the distribution and production of WEALTH. We live in a time when our minds are so primitive, our natures so selfish, THAT, WITH NOBLE EXCEPTIONS, WE CAN ONLY BE DRIVEN TO CULTIVATE THE EARTH AND DEVELOP OUR MENTAL FACULTY BY THE BASE LOVE OF MONEY AND PROPERTY.

It wasn't cash that tempted Newton to work for the law of gravitation and add that priceless intellectual jewel to the wealth of humanity. Nobody paid him to do that.

Average men need the spur of NECESSITY and anxiety. It is well that they still have it.

Water is a necessity of life, but no man steals water to-day.

Air is a necessity of life, but no man bottles it up or tries to monopolize it.

Kind nature, realizing our weakness, has given to us certain FUNDAMENTAL necessities—air and water and sunshine, free to all.

These we can all get, so WE ARE NOT SELFISH OR MEAN ABOUT THEM.

In time men will organize life so that all will work, all will WANT to work, ALL WILL HAVE ALL THAT THEY NEED, AND MORE.

Men's pride and ambition will not be in the selfish, cheap accumulation of money, BUT IN THE PRODUCTION OF GOOD WORK.

The time will come when the greatest man will be paid by the greatness of his work; when, if there is any special pay, it will go to the feebler, less valuable, man to make him feel less unhappy about his deficiencies.

How little human beings realize the extraordinary future ahead of them.

They look back to the day when every man demanded the right to kill his fellow-man.

They remember the day when the lord of the town and the bishop of the town and the wretched merchants of the town, ALL DEMANDED THE RIGHT TO KEEP A GALLOWS AND HANG THEIR CRIMINALS. They know that now NO MAN WANTS TO TAKE ANOTHER'S LIFE. It is difficult to get a jury to convict.

But human beings have not sense enough to see that improvement has not ended.

They realize that the dreadful love of slaughter has practically vanished from the earth. But they cannot realize that the EQUALLY base and unworthy love of money and unnecessary wealth will also disappear.

Yet this WILL happen, we shall not ALWAYS be like the tumblebug taking home his treasure. We shall not always be like the stupid jackdaw secreting his useless bright bit of glass or metal.

The time will come when man's mind will be centred on doing his duty TOWARD OTHER MEN, instead of exploiting and robbing other men.

The day will come when the problem of feeding all children and the simple problem of providing for the old will be entirely solved.

Then men will begin to be worthy of the earth that is given to them and of the Divine justice that rules them. They will show their appreciation of nature's gifts by lives and ambitions worthy of MEN.

AND THE WRETCHED CHEAP LOVE OF MONEY AND FINERY WILL HAVE NO PLACE AMONG US WHEN THAT DAY COMES.

STREET RAILWAY MEN MARK FOES OF LABOR

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

As your paper is the only publication in Boston where the workers can express themselves and get a fair hearing, we beg that you will publish the following:

The Street Railway Men's Union, through their delegates, held a meeting in Boston April 1, 1907, to discuss various matters pertaining to the welfare of those they represented. At this meeting a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions condemning all members of the State Legislature who in any way aided or plotted in the vile plan whereby several important labor measures were held up and thrown into the hands of a recess committee, as follows:

Resolved, That it is the united sentiment of the Street Railway Men's Union of Massachusetts that the Legislature of this State is in the main composed of a gang or scoundrelly hypocrites, who, while posing as the friends of labor, are in fact its most deadly foes, and are ever ready to betray those of the workers whom fate may place within the sphere of their evil influence.

Be it further resolved, That every voter in this State who has the interest of the working class at heart should mark well each and all of the members of our Legislature who have had any hand in this latest outrage against the honest producers of this State, and see to it that at the next election they shall be retired to the seclusion of private life.

The "Children's Happy Evenings Association" and Its Good Work Among the Poor of London

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1907, by American-Journal-Examiner

A CHARMING method of helping the world grow better and happier is introduced by benevolent men and women in London. It is called the "Children's Happy Evenings Association." The Princess of Wales is the president.

The objects of the Children's Happy Evenings Association are to brighten the early years of children whose parents, owing to stress of work, can provide them with little beyond the bare necessaries of life; to teach them to play and amuse themselves in a healthy and orderly manner, and to offer in the clean, well-lighted schoolrooms, furnished with simple toys and directed by kind and sympathizing helpers, a counter attraction to the streets and courts, which are too often the only playground of the poor.

Programme of the Evenings

THE association has never departed from its rule that the "evenings" should be times of amusement pure and simple, recognizing in this a valuable part of education, the education which teaches children to entertain themselves rather than to depend solely on others, to behave with courtesy and consideration toward their companions and to follow the golden rule of "fair play."

Generally speaking, the "evenings" begin with a march around the central hall, after which those children who like to look at picture books or paint go into class rooms set aside for such purposes; others may enter another room and enjoy pleasant hours with puzzle blocks, tea things and the many games which have delighted richer nurseries for long years past. Some delight in listening to fairy tales, and dolls which dress and undress are an unfailing source of amusement to the younger girls.

In many schools children learn to make furniture for a doll's house, little carts and other toys. An old packing case will serve for the house and discarded cards are ingeniously worked up into doll's furniture. Old reels can be made into little tops; Christmas cards by means of small pieces of flannel are turned into needlebooks, old scraps of silk become pin cushions, and fragments of material are made into pen-wipers and other useful presents.

The children are encouraged to manufacture gifts for their parents and relatives, for everything possible is done to strengthen rather than loosen home ties. Scrap books and loose scraps are even more acceptable gifts than scrap books already filled, for the children like to arrange these themselves and to send their completed handiwork to some neighboring hospital, for whose benefits they may have had cause to be grateful.

Twenty-two thousand children at one hundred and thirty-five branches attended this association last year weekly.

It is said that the beneficial effect of these "evenings" shows itself in many ways, and a bond of sympathy has been created between the poor children and their more friends, which could never have sprung into existence in the ordinary course of charitable work.

All the well-known names of England, both in the social and artistic circles, appear on the council lists. They give not only games and toys, but, to make these "evenings" a success, give what is better yet, their personal attendance at intervals.

One hundred people can give an "evening" once a year at small cost to themselves and with great benefit to the children. This would insure the presence of two people of prominence at each weekly gathering.

"A Good Example"

WHETHER this phase of helpfulness has been introduced in America or not I do not know. It should be.

Mrs. Hiland Sutton, No. 47 Brook street, N. W., London, England, will give further information to any one interested.

It is not only a means of helping the poor to enjoy life more intelligently, but it is the means of giving many idle young men and women an opportunity to do some practical good in the world at such a small cost of effort that they will not feel the discouragement a more heroic undertaking would produce.

Let some good woman of fame or fashion start this society in every American centre.

Spring Variations

By Wex Jones

SPRING! Feel its breath in the air!
Doesn't the sun shine bright?
Oh, but the morning is rare!
Ah, but the day brings delight!

SPRING! and the day is o'ercast!
Gee, how it's pelting with rain!
Rubbers, umbrella—It's past.
And the sun is a-shining again.

SPRING'S balmy breath in the air!
NOW it feels like a mighty hard frost;
Oh, it's raining again—no, it's fair!
Well, wouldn't a poet get lost!
